

External UML diagram

The external UML diagram lays out our module's interaction with other systems and modules. The objects the module creates will be passed to and from the sharing module whenever an object is created or altered. The module itself will create its own instance of an HTML canvas which we will manipulate using Javascript and JQuery methods.